

The Biology Graduate Student Association Presents

2022 Undergraduate Research Symposium

Are you an undergraduate participating in research in the Department of Biology? Come share your research at the 2022 Undergraduate Research Symposium held by the Undergraduate Research Assistantship Program! This event showcases undergraduate research in the Department of Biology, providing students with an opportunity to present their research in a relaxed setting. Students can give either an oral OR poster presentation. To present, consult with your research mentor and submit an abstract for consideration. When submitting your abstract please see the guidelines below and indicate if you would like to give a talk or poster presentation.

Guidelines for abstracts:

- Include a title
- Include all collaborators/co-authors and affiliations
- No more than 300 words
- Do not include references
- See previous examples here
